

Watch: Global markets - opportunity amid the storms?

It's certainly been an interesting year so far for global equity markets. Here, Pieter Fourie, head of global equities, provides some perspective on the impact of the geopolitical storms currently engulfing markets - especially in emerging economies - as well as the opportunities they might present.

