* Portfolio yield is calculated by adding the gross dividend amounts for all dividend types that have gone 'ex' over the past 12 months based on the dividend frequency.

 Distribution yield is the amount received by an investor, and is the sum of distributions paid over the past 12 months, based on the frequency and divided by the last price

The Fund may invest in companies based in emerging markets which may involve additional risks not typically associated with other more established markets such as increased risk of social, economic and political uncertainty. The Fund has holdings which are denominated in currencies other than sterling and may be affected by movements in exchange rates. Consequently the value of an investment may rise or fall in line with the exchange rates.

The value of this portfolio is subject to fluctuation and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. The performance is calculated for the portfolio and the actual individual investor performance will differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. All terms exclude costs. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying investments to go up or down. Do remember that the value of participatory interests or the investment and income generated from them may go down as well as up and is not guaranteed, therefore, you may not get back the amount originally invested and potentially risk total loss of capital. Therefore, the Manager does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of a portfolio. The Yield is calculated on historic dividend income from the preceding 12 months. Since the yield is based on past information it is provided as a guide and should not be taken as a guaranteed yield. If fees are charged to the capital account then this could reduce the amount invested. Income may fluctuate in accordance with market conditions and taxation arrangements. The Manager has the right to close any Portfolios to new investors to manage them more efficiently in accordance with their mandates. Collective Investment Schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Collective Investment Schemes (CIS) are generally medium to long term investments. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request free of charge from the Manager, the Investment Manager or at www.sanlam.ie.

Monthly commentary

The Sanlam Global High Quality Fund underperformed the MSCI World Index during the month by 0.5%, with the fund down 1.6%.

The best performing stock during the month was Imperial Brands (+7.5%). Imperial posted a strong set of quarterly numbers which reassured investors that the long-awaited turnaround was finally on track. The strategy recently has been to focus on their core markets that carry high profitability. These markets include the US, UK and Germany. In the past too many resources had been allocated to markets with low profitability, such as Italy and Russia, and this had been a constant headwind for the company. If the company continue to have success in this regard, we expect share repurchases to begin as the valuation remains, in our view, very attractive.

Other strong performers during the month were ABI (+4.5%) and Roche (+3.9%). ABI posted a strong set of Q1 results with sales beating expectations comfortably.

In terms of laggards, Sabre (-9.9%) and Alibaba (-9.8%) struggled. The Sabre share price continues to gyrate on vaccination and covid-19-variants news. They posted their Q1 results with earnings missing expectations. Alibaba continues to invest heavily behind future growth opportunities and the market took this negatively.

During the month we sold out of our position in Danone and invested in Philips.
