Tax warnings

- There may be different tax implications depending on whether you take specified amounts as a segment surrender or a partial surrender.
- Please note that within any single policy year, any partial surrenders and regular withdrawals which combined exceed your cumulative 5% tax deferred allowance, will give rise to a gain which may result in an income tax liability.
- A segment surrender may be a more tax efficient way of taking monies from your bond. Where surrendering individual policy segments creates a gain this may result in an income tax liability depending on your tax position.

If you are in any doubt as to how your surrender will be taxed you should contact your Financial Adviser before submitting your request.

You must complete and sign this form or we will be unable to process your request.

Important: Please enclose your policy schedule(s) and all deeds of title when you return this form.
