* Portfolio yield is calculated by adding the net dividend amounts for all dividend types that have gone 'ex' over the past 12 months based on the dividend frequency. This total excludes taxes, any related dividend fees or tax related credits

 Distribution yield is the amount received by an investor, and is the sum of distributions paid over the past 12 months, based on the frequency and divided by the last price

The Fund invests geographically in a narrow range, there is an increased risk of volatility which may result in frequent rises and falls in the Fund's share price. The value of this portfolio is subject to fluctuation and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. The performance is calculated for the portfolio and the actual individual investor performance will differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. All terms exclude costs. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying investments to go up or down. Do remember that the value of participatory interests or the investment and the income generated from them may go down as well as up and is not guaranteed, therefore, you may not get back the amount originally invested and potentially risk total loss of capital. Therefore, the Manager does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of a portfolio. Since the yield is based on past information it is provided as a guide and should not be taken as a guaranteed yield. If fees are charged to the capital account then this could reduce the amount invested. Income may fluctuate in accordance with market conditions and taxation arrangements. The Manager has the right to close any Portfolios to new investors to manage them more efficiently in accordance with their mandates. Collective Investment Schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Collective Investment Schemes (CIS) are generally medium to long term investments. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request free of charge from the Manager or Investment Manager at www.sanlam.ie SAH1119(120)0220UK&SAInst

Monthly commentary

UK equities were marginally down over the month as sterling strength weighed on overseas earners. This currency move was driven by Boris Johnson's success in agreeing a Brexit deal with the EU, and sterling managed to hold on to these gains despite the deal not being supported by parliament. An election to attempt to break this log jam will now be held on 12 December. In the US, the Fed cut rates by a further quarter point, but this had already been discounted and elicited no market response. UK sector returns were unremarkable, except for weakness in consumer staples and energy stocks.

The Fund held up well over the month and comfortably outperformed the MSCI UK benchmark. Our underweight position in the afore-mentioned consumer and energy groups contributed positively, with particular benefit received from not holding Diageo and being underweight in Royal Dutch Shell. Positive stock contributions from our holdings also helped, especially in the banking sector through positions in Lloyds and Barclays, whilst being underweight in HSBC, which issued a profits warning. Notable gains were also seen from Taylor Wimpey, Prudential, IQE, and Howden Joinery, partially offsetting weakness from Intercontinental Hotels, Rolls Royce and Integragrin.

We took advantage of price strength to dispose of our remaining modest positions in Tui and IQE, top sliced GlaxoSmithKline, and sold the small position in M&G received following its demerger from Prudential. We also trimmed HSBC and International Consolidated Airlines. Proceeds were used to add to existing positions in IHG, Unilever and Barclays.

In the run up to the December general election, equity market movements will be driven by trends in the polls. Currently these suggest a likely overall majority for the Conservative party, an outcome that would be supportive for the market, (perhaps moderated by sterling strength). Any other outcome would put the Brexit deal in doubt, prolong uncertainty, and therefore be received negatively.
