

Sanlam Multi-Strategy Fund

June 2019 | Factsheet

Overview

The fund combines thematic and systematic investment strategies aimed at generating long-term positive returns. The broad asset class exposure ranges from stock indices and government bonds to real assets, equity derivatives and high yield corporate bonds. The team employs stringent risk analysis and stop loss positions to provide downside protection.

Performance – past performance is not a guide to future performance

Class B returns are used to illustrate the fund's longest track record and has no fixed management fee. It requires a separate agreement with Sanlam Investments and is not available to retail clients. Class A is available to retail clients with a 0.75% p.a. management fee, which would result in lower performance than shown. Please see table below for the effect of these charges on performance. Please see the table overleaf for all available share classes and total fees, or contact us for details.

*Distribution yield is the amount received by an investor, and is the sum of distributions paid over the past 12 months, based on the frequency and divided by the last price

The Fund has holdings which are denominated in currencies other than sterling and may be affected by movements in exchange rates. Consequently the value of an investment may rise or fall in line with the exchange rates. The fund can invest in derivatives. Derivatives are used to protect against fluctuations in currencies, credit risk and interests rates or for investment purposes. There is a risk that losses could be made on derivative positions or that the counterparties could fail to complete on transactions. The Fund's expenses are charged to capital. This has the effect of increasing dividends while constraining capital appreciation. Part of the fund is invested in bonds. The government or company issuer of a bond might not be able to repay either the interest or the original loan amount and therefore default on the debt. This would affect the credit rating of the bond and, in turn, the value of the fund. Investment in bonds and other debt instruments (including related derivatives) is subject to interest rate risk. If long-term interest rates rise, the value of your shares is likely to fall. The value of this portfolio is subject to fluctuation and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. The performance is calculated for the portfolio and the actual individual investor performance will differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. All terms exclude costs. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying investments to go up or down. Do remember that the value of participatory interests or the investment and income generated from them may go down as well as up and is not guaranteed, therefore, you may not get back the amount originally invested and potentially risk total loss of capital. Therefore, the Manager does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of a portfolio. The Yield is calculated on historic dividend income from the preceding 12 months. Since the yield is based on past information it is provided as a guide and should not be taken as a guaranteed yield. If fees are charged to the capital account then this could reduce the amount invested. Income may fluctuate in accordance with market conditions and taxation arrangement's. The Manager has the right to close any Portfolios to new investors to manage them more efficiently in accordance with their mandates. Collective Investment Schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Collective Investment Schemes (CIS) are generally medium to long term investments. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request free of charge from the Manager, the Investment Manager or at www.sanlam.ie. SAH0719(76)0919UK&SAInst

Monthly commentary

We have no exposure to equity markets in the growth momentum strategy. Elsewhere we are remain active in nine areas; Synthetic equity options, Global Infrastructure, Renewables, Property, Active Alpha, corporate bonds (short dated), government bonds, alternatives and opportunistic. We continue to hold equity index options as upside and downside hedges.

The statement released following the latest meeting of the US Federal Reserve pointed to a shift in policy. In dropping the word "patient" the latest statement signalled that the next move in interest rates is likely to be downwards and may come sooner than previously expected. Hopes for progress on US/China trade talks were also raised ahead of the G20 meeting with Presidents Trump and Jinping scheduled to meet in Osaka. In Europe the political scene remains the centre of attention with leaders struggling to agree candidates for the EU top jobs whilst in the UK we now know that either Boris Johnson or Jeremy Hunt will replace Theresa May as Prime Minister.

The softer tone on interest rates and hopes on trade talks gave the markets a boost and most recovered all of the losses from May. The S&P 500 index led the way with a 7% gain for the month and the Nikkei 225 index brought up the rear with a gain of 3.4%; this contrasted with losses of 6% and 7% respectively last month. Bond yields continued to tighten in most markets, indeed 10 year government yields in France, Sweden and The Netherlands all turned negative in the month.

The Multi Strategy fund saw gains in synthetic equity, renewables, high yield bond, invest grade bonds, infrastructure and opportunistic. The fund saw negative contributions from property, other alternatives, midcap alpha and hedges. The first half of 2019 has produced positive returns in most asset classes, but not without a significant dose of volatility. The mixed messages from equity and bond markets are unlikely to make the second half any easier, but we remain confident that we are well positioned with our current profile of a diversified convertible favouring option based equity exposure (rather than pure directional investments) alongside income producing real assets and short duration bonds.
