The Fund has holdings which are denominated in currencies other than sterling and may be affected by movements in exchange rates. Consequently the value of an investment may rise or fall in line with the exchange rates. The value of this portfolio is subject to fluctuation and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. The performance is calculated for the portfolio and the actual individual investor performance will differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. All terms exclude costs. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying investments to go up or down. Do remember that the value of participatory interests or the investment and the income generated from them may go down as well as up and is not guaranteed, therefore, you may not get back the amount originally invested and potentially risk total loss of capital. The Yield is gross and is calculated on historic dividend income from the preceding 12 months. Since the yield is based on past information it is provided as a guide and should not be taken as a guaranteed yield. If fees are charged to the capital account then this could reduce the amount invested. Income may fluctuate in accordance with market conditions and taxation arrangement's. Therefore, the Manager does not provide any guarantee either with respect to the capital or the return of a portfolio. The Manager has the right to close any Portfolios to new investors to manage them more efficiently in accordance with their mandates. Collective Investment Schemes are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Collective Investment Schemes (CIS) are generally medium to long term investments. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request free of charge from the Manager, the Investment Manager or at www.sanlam.ie.

Monthly commentary

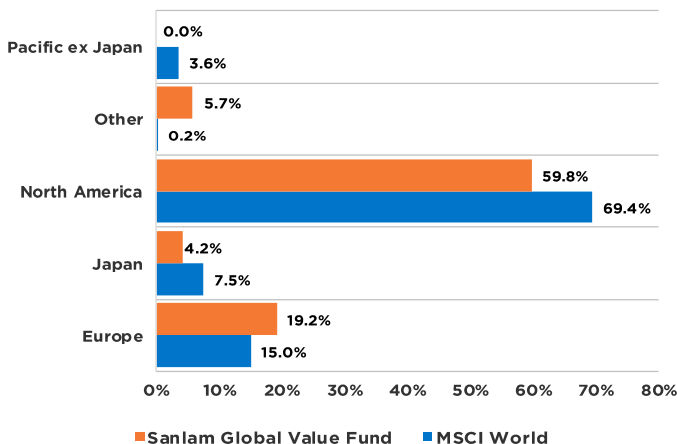

During the month of July the fund delivered a positive return of 1.9% (in USD terms), underperforming both the MSCI World (-2.9%) and the MSCI World Value Index (-0.6%).

From a COVID-19 perspective the month saw the pace of new infections rise in a number of regions, rising from much lower levels in Europe and Japan, while the pace of the increase in the US slowed towards the end of July. Emerging markets enjoyed a second month of significant outperformance over the developed world, while the gold price continued to rally. What was evident during July was that the strong performance of a few companies, specifically in the US, was enough to spur markets forward. Strong second quarter results from the likes of Amazon and Apple, significant components in the market-cap weighted S&P500, contributed significantly to the positive performance of the index during the month. This is despite a number of industries still reeling from the implications of COVID-19 and the economic shutdowns.

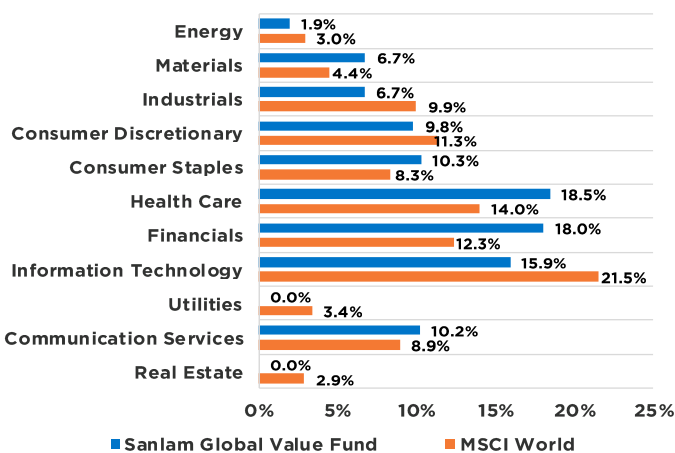

Exposure to the airline industry, and more specifically the Boeing 737 Max aircraft, was the predominant theme underpinning the performance of the Fund during July. Indeed, the Industrials sector was one of the largest detractors from an attribution standpoint, with AerCap (-0.25%), Spirit AeroSystems (-0.28%) and Rolls-Royce (-0.23%) all significantly underperforming the broader market. AerCap fell -12.56% in absolute terms during July despite reporting second quarter revenue higher than analyst estimates. The main headwind for the name is the continued cuts in Boeing 737 Max orders, with only five aircraft being delivered and on lease as of 30th June. The company has reached an agreement with Boeing to restructure their order book, including the cancellation of fifteen 737 aircraft previously on order. Spirit AeroSystems, falling -18.25% in absolute terms, have also been affected, but predominantly as a function of lower production from Boeing themselves, given they are a major fuselage producer. The firm are cutting an additional 1,100 jobs, bringing the total number to 8,000 (44% of the total workforce). Finally, Rolls-Royce fell -18.85% in absolute terms, again linked to headwinds in the aircraft and travel industries – the shares sold off after Moody's downgraded the company's long term senior unsecured bonds to junk status.

Elsewhere, the portfolio suffered as a function of not holding Amazon and Apple, detracting -0.25% and -0.42% respectively as both companies reported record revenues for Q2. On the upside, Skyworks (+0.32%), Qorvo (+0.38%) and Berkshire Hathaway (+0.15%) added, while a slight underweight to Energy added 11 basis points.
