

Virtual Summer Work Experience

An unfortunate consequence of the recent government restrictions has been the cancellation of many work experience and internship schemes throughout the City. In response, we are pleased to announce that we are holding a four-day Work Experience Week in July – with all sessions held virtually.

This will be a structured programme providing valuable knowledge and advice to those starting out on their careers. Participants will hear first-hand insights from a successful entrepreneur, a professional careers coach, and various members of the Sanlam team – including our CEO and our award-winning investment team. Successful candidates will also embark on an exciting team project throughout the week, enabling them to build up their research, teamwork and presentation skills as well as their business understanding.

The Sanlam Virtual Summer Work Experience Week will provide insight into the many varied career opportunities available to young and ambitious individuals. The week is aimed at 18-23 year olds who are driven, hard-working and perhaps not yet certain what direction they want their career to take. Will it be finance? Could it be marketing? Or are you an entrepreneur?
